We knew that since Jamie plays linemen for the LFL, that meant that not only was she strong but also beautiful... just like Tom's fully built 2002 C5 Corvette Z06.   ♦  //  To say that this build has been a long time in the making is an understatement. ♦Tom began this journey back in 2006 when he picked up this gorgeous Millenium Yellow C5 Z06 Corvette. ♦It had about 30,000 miles on it and was bone stock. ♦But Tom bought this Vette with no intentions of ever leaving her stock! ♦Within the first 6 months, she already had a Heads/Cam/Headers package, a FAST 90 intake, a Nick Williams 90mm TB and a Ram Twin Disk Clutch. ♦This setup made 440rwhp and 400rwtq. ♦A year later Tom still wanted more and his brother "Riski" convinced him to swap the cam to the England Green Whiplash camshaft. ♦After swapping the cam there wasn't enough valve to piston clearance and it wiped out the valve, piston, and the head! This is where the monster build and the quest for 1000 horsepower all began. Jamie Barwick Quick Tire Change on Toms Z06  //  After all of the damage, Tom decided to order a 408 LQ9 motor, a D1SC Stage 2 Procharger Kit with the A&A Supercharger Bracket, MSD Coils, a DTE Rear End with Trans Brace, AFR 225 Heads, Comp lifters, 60lb Injectors, a Racetronix Fuel System with a Kenne Bell Boost-A-Pump along with adding the Remote Bleeder, and a new Slave Cylinder. ♦This setup increased the Z06 rear horsepower to 660 horsepower to the rear wheels, and 600 rwtq! ♦The rear end did not appreciate all of the new found power. So Tom pulled it out himself and rebuilt it with DTE parts, including 300m Shafts, and Carbon Clutches. Jamie Barwick looking at engine in 2002 Corvette Z06  //  Still the tune wasn't quite right and Tom was experiencing some drivability issues. He then took it to another shop for tuning and ended up swapping the blower pulley to a smaller one along with adding a Snow Performance Meth Kit. ♦With the new tune and mods the car was now up to 735 rear wheel horsepower, and a whopping 720 foot pounds of torque! <a

After all this work was finally completed, Tom was informed that the 408 LQ9 motor had been hurt on the dyno and that the pistons and cylinders were oval shaped and the walls were gouged! ♦Tom went ahead and ordered an <a

♦They found that adding an LS7 water pump fixed the belt issue. After they retuned it, this beast has been running like a champ at 967 rwhp and 867rwtq at 20psi on pump gas! ♦On the day before the photoshoot Tom was cleaning the car up for the shoot and realized that the blower bracket had actually been rubbing and grinding the crank pulley pretty badly! ♦He stayed up the entire night pulling her apart so he could grind down the bracket and clearance it enough to clear the pulley.♦ Removing this extra drag could easily be the key to cracking the
